

Keeping the past alive for future generations

The Grand Valley Historical Society was formed in 2004 by a group of people interested in the preservation and promotion of our local cultural and architectural history, and in 2020 it was incorporated through the Ontario Historical Society. The Society brings together those who wish to keep the past alive for future generations.

The aims and objectives of the Society are –

- To encourage preservation of the historical heritage of Grand Valley and environs.
- To bring together those people interested in the diverse historical heritage of Grand Valley.
- To arouse interest in the past by publishing information in written, digital or visual form, by organizing walking tours, and developing informational pamphlets, newsletters and brochures.
- To advance education by improving the public's understanding and awareness of the history of the area by holding public meetings, and by hosting events, displays, exhibitions and lectures.
- To promote historical research.
- To encourage the preservation of historical and architectural heritage.
- To discover and collect material which may help establish, illustrate or define the history of Grand Valley.
- To collect written, photographic, oral or digital historical information and stories and artifacts.

If you have old photos, diaries, scrapbooks, etc., the Society would appreciate having these items made available to us for copying. Digital images can be emailed to the Society.

Annual memberships are available. Active members have free admission to the Museum of Dufferin.
